LOCAL PUBLIC SAFETY COUNCIL

Mission Statement: “To promote public safety by developing policies and procedures that create an effective criminal adult and juvenile system including managing the offender population through prevention, intervention and accountability.”

Columbia County’s LPSCC meets monthly to review public safety concerns. During the last biennium, LPSCC reviewed and endorsed the County’s jail funding levy, approved the 2017-2019 Community Justice plan, LPSCC also endorsed the Evidence Based Decision Making (EBDM) grant request sponsored by NIC.

The council is committed to improving the quality of criminal justice throughout the county. The Department of Community Justice, Adult & Juvenile Divisions, have the support of LPSCC in their endeavor to train staff and implement evidence-based crime prevention programs.

COLUMBIA COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNITY JUSTICE ADULT DIVISION

Mission Statement: "Reduce criminal conduct through a partnership with communities and human services agencies with a continuum of supervision, incarceration, and programming to manage offender behavior."

Columbia County Department of Community Justice - Adult Division (DCJ-Adult Division) supervises approximately 486 adult offenders on parole, post-prison supervision and probation. Over the two years, these numbers have been growing. Average caseloads are around 70 clients per officer. Columbia County is committed to a value-driven system using evidence-based practices to protect citizens, hold offenders accountable, provide effective treatment programming, and to ensure rapid responses to violations using a continuum of sanctions. Through standardized risk assessments and a specialized sex offender assessment tool, Community Justice identifies those offenders who pose the greatest risk to the community and focuses the majority of resources and services to medium and high-risk offenders.

Community Justice Adult Division staff consists of the Director, one Adult Division Supervisor, seven Parole & Probation Officers, two support staff, a .5ft Intervention Specialist, a Community Services Coordinator and a work crew supervisor. Three temporary part-time employees are used to provide work crew supervision.

DCJ - Adult Division partners with local agencies and organizations to ensure the best delivery of services within limited resources. A collaborative effort with the Circuit Court, District Attorney, Columbia County Consortium, and Columbia Community Mental Health, resulted in the formation of the Columbia County Drug Court program. By working together as a team, the agencies seek to provide a variety of programs and consistent supervision geared toward supporting and helping the offender maintain a drug-free life.

EVIDENCE BASED PRACTICE (EBP)

The Department of Community Justice - Adult Division, has developed a comprehensive evidence-based approach that includes both internal coordination of programming aimed at skill development and external coordination of programming aimed at reduction of recidivism. The plan will identify steps necessary to create, implement and maintain a system of services, supervision and sanctions resulting in positive outcomes and documents the steps taken to achieve such results.

The principles of EBP includes those of risk, need, and responsivity and will be incorporated into the daily practices of supervision and how they have been incorporated into the daily practices of supervision.

The principle of risk dictates that services are delivered to offenders with a higher risk to recidivate, while minimal services are provided to offenders who present a low risk to recidivate. Risk assessment is accomplished through use of the standardized and validated Oregon Case Management System Risk Assessment Tool.

The principle need determines what factors to target that are specifically related to criminal behavior. Treatment and supervision services must focus on addressing criminogenic needs and behaviors.

The principle of responsivity determines how services are best delivered and that programs are using treatment models that have demonstrated effectiveness in reducing recidivism. These models include cognitive, which focuses on how a person thinks; behavioral, which focuses on how a person behaves; and social learning theory approach, which use techniques of role modeling, practice, and reinforcement to teach new behaviors.

Thus, Parole & Probation Officers manage felony offenders who are in the community by concentrating the greatest efforts on offenders who are most likely to commit new crimes.

Program Name:	WORK CREW AND COMMUNITY SERVICE
Program Category:	Community Service and Work Crew
Program Description:	To provide a sentencing alternative to the Courts and a local intermediate sanction for offenders who fail to comply with conditions of supervision. It is also used as an option to furlough from jail and offenders released under the matrix program. Transitional housing residents may also complete work crew in lieu of paying rent. Offenders are allowed to participate in the work crew program to work off past-due supervision fees.
Program Objectives:	Provide a non-custody sentencing alternative for the releasing authorities. Provide a cost-effective work force to community agencies. Provide an opportunity for offenders to work in lieu of financial obligations. Offenders failing to complete the program will be referred back to the releasing authority.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	Periodic audits of outcome measures as reported in CIS. The number of participants and hours completed are tracked and reported in the department's annual report.

Program Name:	Custody
Program Category:	Custodial/Sanction Beds
Program Description:	Local control incarceration of felony offenders at the Columbia County Justice Facility for sentences or terms of 12 months or less. It includes court sentences, probation revocations, parole and post-prison supervision revocations and administrative sanctions.
Program Objectives:	Provide a greater control authority over relatively short-term prisoners. Offer a range of sanctions to appropriately respond to violations of conditions of supervision. Incorporate structured and supervised work activities.
Method(s) of Evaluation:	The evaluation of success is for the offender to serve the jail term without incident, participate in available in-custody resources, and make a successful return to the community. Data collection is through a statewide data base and with CIS with results reported in the department's annual report. Community Justice staff will track SB1145 (Local Control) bed days used in the local facility

Program Name:	Columbia County Justice Reinvestment Program/Downward Departure
Program Category:	Community-Based Custodial Alternatives
Program Description:	Columbia County Justice Reinvestment Program (CCJRP) is designed to be an evidence-based curriculum of community programs that provide alternative strategies to addressing adult offender behavior. Through appropriate assessment, referrals, and integral delivery of services, the program is designed to increase public safety, reduce offender recidivism, while reducing prison sentences and jail utilization. The program is intended to move Columbia County Department of Community Justice towards developing long term sustainable evidence-based programming that serve high risk/high need offenders under community supervision which include alternative incarceration programs/short-term transitional leave, probation, and offenders on post-prison supervision. The model is composed of three equal components: evidence-based practice, organizational development, and system-wide collaboration to provide a balance of evidence-based services/programs, community-based supervision strategies and alternative sanctions to enhance risk reduction.
Program Objectives:	Increase Public Safety, Increase Offender Accountability, Reduce Offender Recidivism and Reduce Prison Sentences; Develop EBDM across criminal justice continuum
Method(s) of Evaluation:	Data-analysis; program fidelity.
