I care deeply about supporting our local agricultural community and helping ensure the Columbia County Fair continues to be a place where families, youth, and local businesses can come together. As someone who owns a small farm with animals and works locally in real estate, I have a strong connection to the community and an appreciation for the traditions that make our county special. I enjoy bringing people together, organizing events, and helping promote local opportunities. I would be excited to contribute my time, ideas, and work ethic to help the fair continue to grow while maintaining the agricultural roots and community spirit that make it so important to Columbia
